

Internship Opportunities in CRS Regional and Field Offices

The Community Relations Service was established by Title X of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The agency serves as the Department's "peacemaker" for community conflicts and tensions arising from differences of race, color, and national origin. The Headquarters office, located in Washington, D.C., coordinates the efforts of 10 Regional Offices and four Field Offices. Regional Offices are located in: Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Atlanta, Chicago, Dallas, Kansas City, Denver, Los Angeles, and Seattle. Field Offices are located in Miami, Detroit, Houston, and San Francisco.

Interns will have the opportunity to work on a wide variety of projects, including preparing briefings on congressional hearings; researching issues concerning race relations; monitoring recent developments concerning civil rights issues; assisting in the coordination and analysis of agency programs; planning outreach efforts and events; developing CRS training programs; and general administrative duties. In addition, law student interns will work with the Senior Counsel on legal matters affecting the agency.

Requirements:

Must be a U.S. citizen, must be eighteen years of age or older, and all selected applicants must pass a security background check before final approval. Relocation and housing costs not covered by DOJ.

Period of Internship: Open.

Salary: Unpaid.

Apply directly to the Regional office. Send resume and a brief cover letter explaining your interest, background, and dates of availability for internships. You may also apply by e-mail through the CRS Webmaster at CRSInternCoordinator@usdoj.gov <<mailto:CRSInternCoordinator@usdoj.gov>>, but indicate the office where you are seeking the internship.*
